

REPORT TO THE ALUMNI

spring 1976

dear alumni,

I would like to invite all Indiana University of Pennsylvania alumni to return to campus for the Senior/Alumni Weekend activities, May 14-16, 1976

The weekend will provide an opportunity for you to become reacquainted with the IUP campus and will help me in acquainting myself with our alumni.

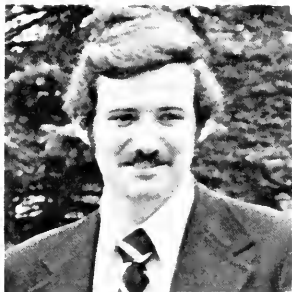

Members of the "Margin of Excellence" Club will be my guests for dinner on May 1. I look forward to meeting these leaders who are continuing the support to IUP begun during the Centennial Year.

I hope to see you during Senior/Alumni Weekend.

Sincerely,

Robert C. Wilburn
President

from the president

Dear Graduates and Friends,

The officers and members of the Executive Board join me in extending to all IUP alumni and friends a most cordial invitation to return to campus and join in the activities of Senior/Alumni Weekend, May 14-16.

Especially welcome, of course, are members of the reunion classes, for whom a variety of activities has been planned. A full schedule of the Weekend's events is included in this newsletter.

Of particular interest at the Alumni Luncheon, which will be attended by alumni, graduation seniors, faculty, administration and friends, will be the presentation for the first time of two Alumni citations.

That for Service will be presented to the team of Davis and Ensley, for over two decades the creative force behind annual Swing-Out productions. That for Achievement professionally will be awarded to

Dr. Harry Fair, Jr., a truly distinguished physicist.

In behalf of the Association and the University, the officers also join me in a sincere expression of gratitude to all who have participated so generously in this year's continuing Annual Giving campaign to provide resources to maintain IUP's "margin of excellence."

Come on back for Senior / Alumni Weekend, and see how your Alma Mater has changed!

Cordially,

Don McPherson '69,
President
IUP Alumni Association

1976 commencement speaker

Dr. James R. Schlesinger will be the speaker for Indiana University of Pennsylvania's commencement the Sunday afternoon of Senior/Alumni Weekend, May 16, at George P. Miller Stadium.

Secretary of Defense for more than two years, he has also served the federal government as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and Acting Director of the Bureau of the Budget.

Accepting an honorary doctor of letters degree at commencement will be Jean Daugherty '43, television performer and executive with WHEN-TV in Syracuse, New York. She is perhaps best known in that area for the "Magic Toy Shop," a series of children's programs on that station for some 20 years.

Sister of Duffy Daugherty, longtime head football coach at Michigan State University, she has gained numerous awards through the years, both for children's programming and for documentaries.

alumni citations

Dr. Harry Fair Jr. '58 and the team of Charles A. "Charlie" Davis '34 and Robert Ensley have been granted University Alumni Citations for Achievement and for Service respectively. They will formally accept the honors at this spring's Senior/Alumni Weekend Luncheon in May.

Selected by the Alumni Council, the three are the first to share in a new program of awarding a single citation each spring. Dr. Fair's honor recognizes his professional achievement, that to Davis and Ensley their contributions to the life of the University.

Dr. Fair, a mathematics and physics graduate of Indiana who studied under Daniel G. Reiber, has become an internationally recognized authority and consultant, both in working with explosives and in advancing the cause of the medical knowledge through his work with lasers.

He is affiliated with the U.S. Army's Picatinny Arsenal Feltman Research Laboratory in Dover, New Jersey, as chief of its solid state branch. For the 1974-75 year he was awarded the Secretary of the Army's Research and Study Fellowship to conduct a year of research in London and in Paris.

In 1971 Dr. Fair had been granted the Department of the Army Research and Development Award, representing the highest form of recognition by the Army for scientific contributions. He is listed in American Men of Science, and is credited with placing the Army in the forefront of his area of study.

Davis and Ensley, as music and drama director respectively, collaborated for 30 years on the famed campus Swing Out productions each spring. In addition, they directed many summer theater musicals and have taken their music and drama to area high schools and colleges.

Davis conducted the Glee Club and University Chorale and the Mellowmen dance band for many years prior to his retirement in 1973. He is now serving as an alumni delegate to the University Foundation Board of Directors and representative to the State Council of Alumni Associations.

Ensley originated the highly regarded summer theater and Drama Workshop programs at Indiana in 1947, and has directed 150 plays. He has also directed more than 50 major drama productions through the academic years.

Alumni Nights for IUP grads and friends are scheduled for August-one for the University's own Theater by the Grove and a second for the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera at Heinz Hall, featuring "Godspell" and "George M.," respectively. Date and cost particulars will be mailed to all interested.

Summer theater at IUP begins June 30-July 3 with "The Contrast" by Tyler Moses, and continues on respective Wednesday through Saturday nights with "Tunnel of Love," "Secret Affairs of Mildred Wild," "Lloyd George Knew My Father," "Cat Among the Pigeons" and "Godspell."

For a good weekend when many popular campus events are in full swing, think about coming back to Indiana April 30-May 2. Swing Out will be center stage at 8 p.m., both Friday and Saturday nights for the Broadway musical "Company," and there will be an outdoor concert at 5 p.m., Friday at Flagstone.

Fraternities, sororities and other campus organizations will take an active part in University Weekend festivities. Tickets for Swing Out may be reserved and reservations for lodging made through the Interest Blank.

giving program

As of press deadline for this edition, and prior to followup promotion, progress toward the 1975-76 Alumni Annual Giving program goal was on target, approaching $15,000 of the $40,000 aim. But it was clear that vigorous encouragement of spring giving would be required.

The individual response to the special "Margin of Excellence" leadership giving clubs, started during the Centennial year, was again encouraging. Members will be invited guests for dinner with President Robert C. Wilburn in May.

Thanks to alumni giving, the Breezedale Restoration project can now be furthered. A need of $25,000 of Association funding has been projected by fall, so that this may be matched by Commonwealth funds, and the extensive, but largely unseen, engineering and mechanical work can be done.

Special appreciation is extended Mrs. Eunice McCloskey, a painter and writer of Ridgway, who has contributed a fine collection of primitive Pennsylvania paintings and a great deal of period furniture that will blend with the Victorian mansion. Her daughter, Eunice, graduated from IUP in '64.

Current annual giving revenue also means that Stabley Library can augment its resources in a manner appropriate to a University of Indiana's enrollment and standing, and the various other established accounts can prove of great help in their purposes.

Since graduating from their alma mater, Indiana's some 35,000 living alumni have ranged far afield from campus. They presently reside in each of the counties of Pennsylvania as well as in all of our 50 states, the District of Columbia, various United States territories and abroad.

While nearly 18,000 live reasonably close to Indiana, more than 11,000 have come to reside some distance from campus. The greatest number are in Southwestern Pennsylvania, while approximately 4500 alumni live out of state.

Beyond the particular counties listed, some 11,000 are in the general area of Harrisburg, York and Lancaster, more than 900 in the Philadelphia area, including Montgomery, Bucks and Chester Counties, and another 300 in neighboring Delaware, including particular areas on its borders.

Most popular areas further away from Indiana are New York City, Northern New Jersey and Connecticut (360), Washington, D. C., Northern Virginia and suburban Maryland (280), both the Gulf and Atlantic

If there is any single predominant "type" of Indiana graduate, it is the alumnus of the Sixties or Seventies now residing in Allegheny County or nearby, and with this in mind a program for Pittsburgh Young Alumni is now underway, following the Pitt basketball game kickoff of February.

Nearly 100 came to that post-game party. A planning group is now meeting to further organize, and activities are to be set for later this spring and summer. If you are a young graduate of the Pittsburgh area, and want to be sure to keep posted, check the Interest Blank in this issue.

Effective this coming September 1, transcript fees set by the University will be $1 for the first issued and $2 for every subsequent transcript, advises Dr. C. Donald Seagren, Registrar. Requests for transcripts must be in writing and accompanied by payment.

Homecoming Weekend '76, complete with Parade of Bicentennial theme, will be October 1-3. Football opponent will be Shippensburg State College. Particulars, including reservation information, will come in the September Report to the Alumni.

Reservations can still be made for the IUP Alumni trips to Bermuda (June 19-26) and/or London (August 6-14). For further information, contact: Office of Alumni Affairs, IUP, Indiana, Pa. 15701.

Indiana's first "Alumni College" summer workshop is set for late June and again in July. Featured will be a variety of special presentations by University and visiting faculty on subjects of current interest, planned social events, and free time for recreation.

Lodging will be in a campus residence hall, some meals will be included, while others will be left to your preference. All interested will be alerted to further planning.

For the full main session, a six-credit interdisciplinary course, "Shakespeare and Living English History," should be of special appeal to alumni. A diversity of resources are planned, including feature films and noted speakers, and the Alumni Association's Academic Enrichment fund will augment this.

Mrs. Miriam Koon Ludwig '64 of North Braddock has been appointed by Governor Milton Shapp to the University Board of Trustees. She is currently a reading coordinator with the Pittsburgh/Mount Oliver intermediate unit.

Lt. Col. Anthony Lenzi '54 is completing his first year as head of the U.S. Army Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) at Indiana. He is the first IUP graduate to return to campus in this capacity, although many have served with the ROTC staff.

Stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland for four years before returning to Indiana, Col. Lenzi has served in Vietnam, where he was awarded the Cross of Gallantry, Thailand, Korea and in Germany, and has been with the ROTC staff at the University of Detroit.

We extend our most sincere regret and apology to the five persons who were incorrectly listed as "deceased" in the Fall Report to the Alumni. They are: John S. Barker '73, Margaret Wright '72, John R. Poole '59, Thomas M. Vaughn '59 and Ramona Leeper '52. Miss Wright is now Mrs. Margaret Smith of 410 Ellsworth Ave., New Haven, Conn. 06511, and Poole is living in Georgia.

The U.S. Postal Service had marked mail sent to these persons "deceased" and returned them to the Alumni Office. Again, our sincere apologies for the error.

You, especially if you are a graduate of any Class year ending in 1 or 6, are invited to come back to campus for Senior/Alumni Weekend May 14-16. The traditional Alumni Luncheon and granting of the Citations for Achievement and Service are set for Saturday at noon at Foster hall.

Alumni Day events will begin at 10 a.m. with the annual meeting of the Alumni Association at McVitty Auditorium, Sprowls Hall. There Association President Don McPherson '69 will review its program, and President Robert C. Wilburn will report on "The State of the University."

Through the afternoon, there will be a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Wilburn at the President's Apartment in John Sutton Hall, and tours will be given through the building. Reunion classes will gather across campus, and open house will again be at Breezedale, center of current restoration.

Classes of '26 and '51 are planning special programs to mark their 50th and 25th reunions, seniors of the Class of '76 will be welcomed as new alumni, and Saturday evening the highly regarded Pittsburgh Savoyards will perform the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Yeomen of the Guard."

Regrettably this year it will not be possible to afford returning graduates housing in campus residence halls. This has come about as virtually all students now remain into the weekend to complete their final examination schedules, meaning "No Vacancy."

As an alternative, the Office of the Alumni Affairs is securing advance reservations at Indiana's Ramada Inn, and you may indicate your desire for this on the interest blank. Full information on all of the events of the Weekend will be mailed to all individuals making Luncheon or other reservations.

BASKETBALL TEAM, WRESTLING AND SWIMMING PERFORMERS HAVE OUTSTANDING WINTER

For the eighth season in the last nine, IUP's basketball team qualified for the NAIA District 18 post-season playoffs. Coach Carl Davis's squad finished the regular season with a 19-4 record to rank second in the district and was scheduled to face Waynesburg in the first round of playoffs March 1.

A 6-5 transfer from St. Bonaventure, Bill Moore, from Altoona, has paced the Indians in scoring (16.8) and rebounding (11.1) and is second in assists (105).

Backing Moore offensively have been 6-2 guard Gary Kotsch, a junior from Harrisburg with a 14.2 scoring average, and the team's captain, 6-7 John Guyton in with a 13.1 average. The senior from Stoneboro is the eighth Indiana player in history to pass the 1000-point barrier. Prior to the playoffs, he had registered 1177 points to rank seventh in the all-time scoring parade.

While the basketball team was performing in its usual excellent fashion, the swimming and wrestling outfits produced sparkling showings.

In the Pennsylvania Conference Swimming Championships that were held in the IUP Natatorium, Ralph Johnson's swimmers and divers achieved the school's best finish ever - third.

Individually, Indiana's All-American Emilio Abreu, the native of Paraguay, captured three championships

(the 200-yard and 400-yard individual medleys and the 200-yard butterfly) and sophomore Bill Kane (Maple Glen, Pa.) won the 200-yard backstroke.

All four victories were swum in Conference record times.

Another IUP All-American, wrestler Larry McCoy, the defending national champion at 167 pounds, emerged as the tops in that weight in the Pennsylvania Conference as he took the 1976 crown at Bloomsburg. McCoy, a native of Indiana, will look for his second national championship in the NAIAs later in March.
